ELIS Website — Current Copy Inventory

Every piece of client-facing text currently on the live pages, copied exactly as it appears in code. Use this as the base for drafting copy variants — nothing here is final, it's just what exists today so edits are diffs against a known starting point.

Not included: Tools and Resources (still placeholder stubs pending the calculator decision), Contact page (form + honestly-labeled "details coming soon" note, not really rewrite-able copy), 404/500 pages, footer.

Jay Bablani — Advisor "Jay Bablani has been writing insurance policies since 1994. His work today spans life insurance, disability insurance, and financial and estate planning — bringing three decades of hands-on advisor experience into Enterprise Life Insurance and Investment Solutions."

Glenn Merkley — Director "Glenn Merkley brings more than 30 years of insurance industry experience to his role as Director. With a background specializing in commercial insurance and serving business owners, professionals, and high-net-worth clients, Glenn provides strategic leadership and industry insight that support the company's commitment to exceptional client service and long-term financial protection.

His extensive experience and client-focused approach help guide the organization's vision and growth while ensuring clients remain at the center of everything the company does."

(Glenn is not licensed for life insurance sales/servicing — any rewrite must stay scoped to commercial insurance.)

Ekta Balani — Insurance Broker & Financial Planner "Ekta Balani is a RIBO-certified Insurance Broker and Financial Planner at Enterprise Life, specializing in life insurance for clients and their families."

Who We Help (/who-we-help)

Index hero

- H1: "Who We Help"
- Body: "A business owner and a tradesperson need different coverage — here's how. We build plans around how you actually live and work, not a generic checklist."

Segment card descriptions (index page cards + home teaser cards) — 8 segments, expanded from 4 (old)

- Business Owners & Contractors: "Your business carries risks a standard policy won't cover. We build coverage around how you actually operate."
- Professional (new): "Coverage built around your income, your practice, and the specifics of how you work."
- Health Care: "Long hours, high liability, and a career you spent years building — your coverage should work as hard as you do."
- Architect and Engineers (renamed from "Engineers"): "Income protection and estate planning, modeled with the same precision you bring to your own work."
- Families & Individuals: "Coverage that protects the people who depend on you — clear, and built around your life."
- Mortgage Brokers (new): "Coverage that reflects commission-based income and the way mortgage brokers actually get paid."
- Farmers (new): "Coverage built around land, equipment, and a business that often passes through the family."
- IT Professionals (new): "Coverage that keeps pace with contract work, equity compensation, and a fast-moving career."

Business Owners & Contractors (/who-we-help/business-owners)

Intro: "A business owner and a tradesperson need different coverage than an employee does — your income, your debt, and your business are tied together in ways a standard policy doesn't account for."

What We Help You Plan For:

- Business loans and lines of credit tied to a personal guarantee
- Key person risk — what happens to the business if you're the one who gets hurt or sick
- Passing the business to a partner or family member without a clear plan
- Attracting and retaining employees without a competitive benefits package

FAQ

- Q: What happens to my business loan if something happens to me?
- A: Many business loans and lines of credit are personally guaranteed. Life or disability insurance can be structured to cover that balance, so a health event doesn't become a debt your family or business partners inherit.
- Q: What's key person insurance, and do I need it?
- A: If your business depends heavily on you or another owner, key person insurance replaces some of the income or provides capital the business needs to keep operating while it adjusts.
- Q: Can I offer group benefits without it being complicated to manage?
- A: Yes — group benefits plans can be structured to fit a business of almost any size, and we handle the setup and ongoing administration.
- Q: I already have insurance through my trade association — do I need anything else?
- A: Association plans are a starting point, not usually a complete plan. We can review what you have and show you the gaps.

Health Care (/who-we-help/medical-professionals)

(Tile renamed from "Healthcare";)

Intro: "Between long hours and high liability, your coverage needs to work as hard as you do — and account for how specialized your income actually is."

What We Help You Plan For:

- Disability coverage that reflects your specific specialty, not a generic occupation category
- Outstanding student debt that would remain even if your income stopped
- Overhead expenses for practice owners if you're unable to work
- Group benefits for practice staff

FAQ

- Q: What is own-occupation disability coverage, and why does it matter for me?
- A: Own-occupation coverage pays out if you can't perform the specific duties of your specialty — even if you could technically work in a different medical role. Standard disability policies often don't offer this distinction.
- Q: I still have student debt. Does that affect my coverage needs?
- A: It should factor into how much coverage you carry. We build your plan around your actual financial picture, including debt.
- Q: I own my practice — what's overhead expense insurance?

ctrl the hype.

- A: It covers your practice's fixed costs — rent, staff wages, utilities — if you're unable to work due to illness or injury, so the business can keep running while you recover.
- Q: How is this different from what my hospital or group offers?
- A: Employer or group coverage is often not portable and may not follow you if you change roles or specialties. We look at what you have and fill in the gaps.

Architect and Engineers (/who-we-help/engineers)

(Tile renamed from "Engineers"; intro/list/FAQ below still written for engineers only — flagged in the questionnaire for whether architect-specific content is needed.)

Intro: "Income protection and estate planning, modeled with the same precision you bring to your own work — not a flat percentage rule of thumb."

What We Help You Plan For:

- Income replacement modeled against your actual earning trajectory, not a generic multiple
- Disability coverage that doesn't lose value to inflation over a long career
- Estate planning for RRSPs, pensions, and equity compensation
- Coordinating group benefits with individual coverage to avoid gaps or overlap

FAQ

- Q: How is my coverage amount actually calculated?
- A: We model it against your income, debt, and future earning trajectory — not a flat multiple. You'll see the numbers, not just a recommendation.
- Q: Does my coverage keep pace with inflation?
- A: It can — disability coverage can be structured with a cost-of-living adjustment rider so your benefit doesn't lose value over time.
- Q: I have group coverage through my employer. Do I need my own policy too?
- A: Often, yes. Group coverage is usually capped and not portable if you change jobs. We'll show you exactly where the gaps are.
- Q: What happens to my RRSPs and pension if I die before retirement?
- A: It depends on your beneficiary designations and estate structure. We review this as part of your plan so nothing gets left to default rules.

Families & Individuals (/who-we-help/families-individuals)

Intro: "Coverage that protects the people who depend on you — clear, and built around your life, not a generic checklist."

What We Help You Plan For:

- Income replacement so your family can stay in their home and routine
- Coverage for a stay-at-home parent, whose contribution isn't a paycheck but still has real cost
- Mortgage protection
- Guardianship and estate planning for minor children

FAQ

- Q: How much life insurance do we actually need?
- A: It depends on your mortgage, debts, income, and how many years of support your family would need. We'll walk through the numbers with you, not just sell you a policy.
- Q: My spouse doesn't work outside the home — do we still need to insure them?
- A: Yes. Replacing childcare, household management, and everything a stay-at-home parent does has a real cost. It's easy to overlook.
- Q: We just had a baby. What should we be thinking about?
- A: Life insurance, updating beneficiaries, and naming a guardian in your will are the three most common gaps we see with new parents.
- Q: Is mortgage protection the same as life insurance?
- A: Not exactly. Mortgage protection through a lender is usually tied to that one loan and isn't portable. A personal life insurance policy is more flexible and stays with you.

Services (/services)

Index hero

- H1: "Services"
- Body: "One advisor handled her life insurance, benefits, and estate plan together. Comprehensive coverage, under one roof."

Service card descriptions (index page cards + home teaser cards) — 6 services, expanded from 5.

- Life Insurance: "Income replacement and legacy protection for the people who depend on you."
- Disability & Critical Illness Insurance (renamed from "Disability Insurance"): "Protects your income if you're unable to work, and provides a lump sum if you're diagnosed with a serious illness."
- Investments (new): "Investment planning coordinated with the rest of your coverage, not managed in isolation."
- Group Benefits: "Health, dental, and wellness coverage that helps you retain the people who built your business."
- Financial & Estate Planning: "A clear plan for what you're building — and what happens to it."
- Travel Insurance: "Medical coverage for when you're away from home, sized to how you actually travel."

Life Insurance (/services/life-insurance)

Intro: "Income replacement and legacy protection for the people who depend on you."

Coverage Overview:

- Term life insurance for a fixed period, sized to a mortgage, debt, or income-replacement need
- Permanent life insurance for lifelong coverage and cash value growth
- Beneficiary and estate planning coordination
- Coverage that can adjust as your life changes — a new mortgage, a new child, a new business

FAQ

- Q: What's the difference between term and permanent life insurance?

- A: Term life covers you for a set period — usually 10, 20, or 30 years — and is generally more affordable. Permanent life insurance covers you for life and can build cash value over time. Which one makes sense depends on what you're protecting against and for how long.
- Q: How much life insurance do I actually need?
- A: It depends on your income, debts, mortgage, and how many years of support your dependents would need. We calculate this with you rather than defaulting to a flat multiple of your salary.
- Q: Can I have more than one life insurance policy?
- A: Yes. It's common to combine a term policy for a specific need, like a mortgage, with a smaller permanent policy for lifelong coverage.
- Q: What happens if I outlive my term policy?
- A: Most term policies can be renewed or converted to permanent coverage, usually at a higher premium reflecting your age. We review this with you before your term ends.

Disability & Critical Illness Insurance (/services/disability-insurance)

(Renamed from "Disability Insurance.". Added one coverage bullet and one FAQ for critical illness, in the same general-education tone as the rest — flagged in the questionnaire for real specifics.)

Intro: "Protects your income if you're unable to work, and provides a lump sum if you're diagnosed with a serious illness — two of the most underestimated coverages there are."

Coverage Overview:

- Income replacement if illness or injury keeps you from working
- Short-term and long-term disability options
- Own-occupation vs. any-occupation definitions, and why they matter
- Critical illness coverage that pays a lump sum on a covered diagnosis
- Coordination with employer group coverage to close gaps

FAQ

- Q: Doesn't my employer's group plan already cover this?
- A: Often only partially. Group disability coverage is usually capped and may not follow you if you change jobs. An individual policy fills the gap and stays with you.
- Q: What's the difference between "own occupation" and "any occupation" coverage?
- A: Own-occupation coverage pays out if you can't do your specific job, even if you could do other work. Any-occupation coverage only pays if you can't work in any job reasonably suited to your training — a much higher bar.
- Q: How long does disability coverage pay out for?

ctrl the hype.

- A: It depends on the policy — benefit periods can range from a couple of years to age 65. We help you choose a term that matches your actual risk.
- Q: Is disability insurance only for physical jobs?
- A: No — disability claims are frequently related to conditions like mental health, cancer, and chronic illness, not just workplace injuries.
- Q: What does critical illness insurance cover?
- A: It pays a lump sum if you're diagnosed with a covered serious illness — like cancer, a heart attack, or a stroke — that you can use however you need, on top of any disability coverage you have.

Investments (/services/investments) — new, content pending

Intro: "Investment planning coordinated with the rest of your coverage, not managed in isolation."

Page currently shows a "Full details for this page are on the way" placeholder with a Talk to an Advisor button — no coverage/offering list or FAQ yet.

Group Benefits (/services/group-benefits)

Intro: "Health, dental, and wellness coverage that helps you retain the people who built your business."

Coverage Overview:

- Health and dental plans for employees and their families
- Life and disability coverage as part of a group plan
- Plans that scale from a handful of employees to larger teams
- Ongoing plan administration and renewal support

FAQ

- Q: How small can a group benefits plan be?
- A: Group plans can be structured for very small teams — even just a few employees. We'll help you find a plan that fits your size and budget.
- Q: Can I customize what's covered?
- A: Yes. Coverage levels for health, dental, and other benefits can be tailored to your budget and what matters most to your team.
- Q: Who handles renewals and plan changes?
- A: We do. Ongoing administration and renewal support are part of the service, not a one-time setup.
- Q: Can group benefits help with hiring and retention?
- A: Yes — a competitive benefits package is often one of the deciding factors for candidates comparing job offers, especially against larger employers.

Financial & Estate Planning (/services/financial-estate-planning)

Intro: "A clear plan for what you're building — and what happens to it."

Coverage Overview:

- Coordinating insurance, investments, and estate documents into one plan
- Beneficiary reviews and updates as your life changes
- Business succession and estate transfer planning
- Ongoing reviews as your income, assets, and family situation evolve

FAQ

- Q: Is estate planning just about writing a will?
- A: A will is part of it, but estate planning also includes beneficiary designations, powers of attorney, and how your insurance and investments are structured to transfer efficiently.
- Q: When should I update my estate plan?
- A: Any major life change — marriage, a new child, a business sale, or a significant change in assets — is a good trigger to review it.
- Q: Do you work with my lawyer or accountant?
- A: Yes. Estate planning usually involves coordinating with your existing legal and tax professionals rather than replacing them.
- Q: What happens to my business if something happens to me?
- A: That depends on whether you have a succession or buy-sell plan in place. We help business owners put a plan in writing before it's needed.

Travel Insurance (/services/travel-insurance)

Intro: "Medical coverage for when you're away from home, sized to how you actually travel."

Coverage Overview:

- Emergency medical coverage for trips outside your home province or country
- Single-trip and annual multi-trip options
- Coverage for pre-existing conditions, where eligible
- Trip cancellation and interruption options

FAQ

- Q: Doesn't my provincial health plan cover me when I travel?
- A: Only partially, and usually at a much lower rate than what care actually costs outside your home province or country. Travel insurance covers the gap.

ctrl the hype.

- Q: I travel often — is there a better option than buying a policy every trip?
 - A: Yes, an annual multi-trip plan can cover unlimited trips up to a set length each, which is often more convenient and cost-effective for frequent travelers.
 - Q: Can I get coverage if I have a pre-existing medical condition?
 - A: Often yes, depending on how stable the condition has been before your trip. We'll walk through what's eligible.
 - Q: What's the difference between trip cancellation and emergency medical coverage?
 - A: Emergency medical covers health costs while you're away. Trip cancellation/interruption reimburses non-refundable costs if you have to cancel or cut a trip short for a covered reason.
